QUICK HITS

Dallas Observer is looking for a news editor with at least three years of editorial management experience and a firm basis in SEO and social media.

In these times when journalists are disrespected, condemned, ridiculed, assaulted and constantly face layoffs, pay cuts and worse, let it be known that we honor and support journalism. Keep at it. Your work is important to the people and essential to democracy itself. — Roger Summers

The Dallas Morning News seeks an editorial writer to join its editorial board. Info.

In the days of hot type, a chaser was a running press. The plates were ready. Those pages were said the presses were not stopped until the late edition of the newspaper for which the chasers were chasing a running press.

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The hotline that helps detained immigrants share their stories.

Follow the money: How digital ads subsidize the worst of the web.

The many challenges of covering the coronavirus haven't gone away.

Triumph of the Indeed: What it took to save one coronavirus patient.

One IT guy's spreadsheet-fueled race to restore voting rights.

Supreme Court's most partisan decisions are flying under the radar.

Some countries reopened schools — what did they learn?

Can killing cookies save journalism?

When private security cams become police surveillance tools.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

Achilles Heel — it’s all happening at the speed of Zoom.

The QAnon cult is growing, with the media's help.

When do news sources and their audience share the same truths?

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

The American press is destroying itself.

The uncertain future of Jewish news media.

The campaign begins (again): Political reporting needs a restart.

Can killing cookies save journalism?
The 2020 Mayborn Literary Nonfiction is going virtual.

2020 BRINGING (R) INTO FOCUS
ALL ONLINE, OCTOBER 16-18. ALL FOR $99.

Visit www.themayborn.com

Handsome showing by area student journalists
Tarrant County universities and colleges overpowered the in-depth reporting, feature photography, and editorial cartooning categories in SPJ Mark of Excellence judging in the spring. UNT swept the online/digital feature videography category. The tally: UNT five first places, 10 finalists; UT Arlington five first places, six finalists; Baylor one win, 11 finalists. TCC scored six finalist placements; TCU earned one win, and Texas Wesleyan was a finalist in one category.

Adviser Chris Whitley, upper left, leads the cheers over the Texas APME naming Tarrant County College’s The Collegian the state’s best non-daily college paper. The news came as Collegian staffers were having their annual end-of-year awards ceremony.

The Collegian. Tarrant County College’s newspaper was named Texas’ best non-daily college paper in the Associated Press Managing Editor Awards on May 1. It’s the second straight year and the fourth time in the last seven years that The Collegian has received the award. The news came as Collegian staffers were having their annual end-of-year awards ceremony.

The Shorthorn. When UT Arlington closed, the spring 2020 staff kept on publishing online daily through the e-newsletter with, among other news morsels, wall-to-wall coronavirus coverage and the resignation of the university president. Page views topped 300,000 in March. In spring conference news, the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association named Reese Oxner Editor of the Year and The Shorthorn first place in Overall Excellence in Division 1 (both website and newspaper), but the convention was canceled for the first time since World War II. The marketing team took a first at the CMBAM national convention, and Jade Myers, Duy Vu and Chelsea Akpan were regional SPJ Mark of Excellence winners.

F.O.I.F.T. UPDATE: After the Texas Attorney General’s Office rejected most of the secrecy arguments made by the state Health and Human Services Commission, the agency is now releasing the names and locations of nursing homes and state living facilities with covid-19 outbreaks. The Freedom of Information Foundation of Texas, journalists and interested citizens requested the information under the Texas Public Information Act. The FOI Foundation and others made it clear they were not seeking information that would identify individual patients. Details.